Our Contour Gold-Filling Crowns

Are the wonder and envy of our competitors, the admiration of our patrons. When cemented to place, they present the appearance of a perfectly-contoured gold filling, more durable than any other method of restoring front decayed teeth, and are especially adapted to central and incisors, which are too frail to withstand the malleting necessary to insert a gold filling.

Teeth Without Plates

Bridge work—the meritorious system of bridging teeth—has been so abused by worthless imitations of the original method, that in many instances people lose confidence in its advantages.

The public should use great caution in the selection of their Dentist when requiring work of this character, and avoid imitators. Our success in this line has been most gratifying, and we are glad at any time to have you call for further information at our office,

507 LAW BUILDING, NORFOLK.

PORTSMOUTH, VIRGINIA.

Information Furnished by Portsmouth Business Men's Association.

Portsmouth, situated directly opposite Norfolk, on the west shore of the harbor, is the county seat of Norfolk county, with a population of 20,000 in the city limits proper, and an additional 15,000 in the suburbs, which the city is agitating annexing. The largest sea-going vessels can get berths at any of the wharves that fringe the city for its entire length. Large manufacturing establishments have been erected in the city and suburbs in the last few years, representing a variety of products which challenge comparison in the State—for instance: cotton seed mill, underground conduit, fancy hardwood, pickles and preserves (57 varieties), copper smelting, knit goods, mattresses, hosiery, mantels, barrel plant, guano, ornamental iron work, cotton ties, bagging, berry baskets, dressed lumber, export staves, buckets, tubs, tables, butter dishes, two ice factories, car shops, largest navy yard in the country, etc.

Peanuts, oysters and garden truck shipped in the greatest quantities, this city being in the heart of the producing section.

The city has about forty miles of asphalt, vitrified brick, cobble and shell streets, with brick and asphalt pavements that extend throughout the one and a half miles embraced within the city limits. Every alternate street from east to west is 100 feet wide; north to south, 60 feet.

Two companies furnish gas and electricity for lighting and power purposes, one making a specialty of gas and arc lights, the other incandescent lights exclusively. Electric car lines traverse the city streets in every direction, extending to Pinners Point, Cottage Place, Churchland, Prentis Place, Port Norfolk, Piedmont Heights, Scottsville and other towns that are immediately contiguous to the city.

The terminals of most of the large railroad lines centering here are situated on this side of the river, a ferry line making them accessible for passengers and freight from Norfolk. A large filtration plant has been recently completed, giving the city the best of water in abundance. The city presents the best industrial opportunities in tidewater Virginia.

Jamestown Exposition.

Information Furnished by Jamestown Exposition Co.

The Jamestown Exposition is located on Sewell's Point on Hampton Roads, about eight miles north of the business center of the city of Norfolk and about three miles from the corporate limits of the city.

The grounds are reached by electric cars and by boats from Norfolk. The terminal station of the main electric route, the Pine Beach line, to the Exposition, is on City Hall avenue, near the court house. This route passes through Park Place, Colonial Place and Lambert's Point, and is a ride of thirty minutes from the city to the grounds. The fare is ten cents. Cars on the other Exposition electric route may be boarded on Main or Church streets, and reach the grounds via Ocean View. This route is a little longer than the Pine Beach line, but the fare is the same. Cars on both lines run every two minutes.

Boats leave the various wharves on regular schedules of ten minutes between, and land passengers at the Exposition wharves in about thirty minutes from leaving Norfolk.

Regular boat lines are operated between the grounds and the cities of Newport News, Portsmouth, Hampton and Old Point Comfort, and ample facilities are assured of the rapid and safe transportation of all visitors.

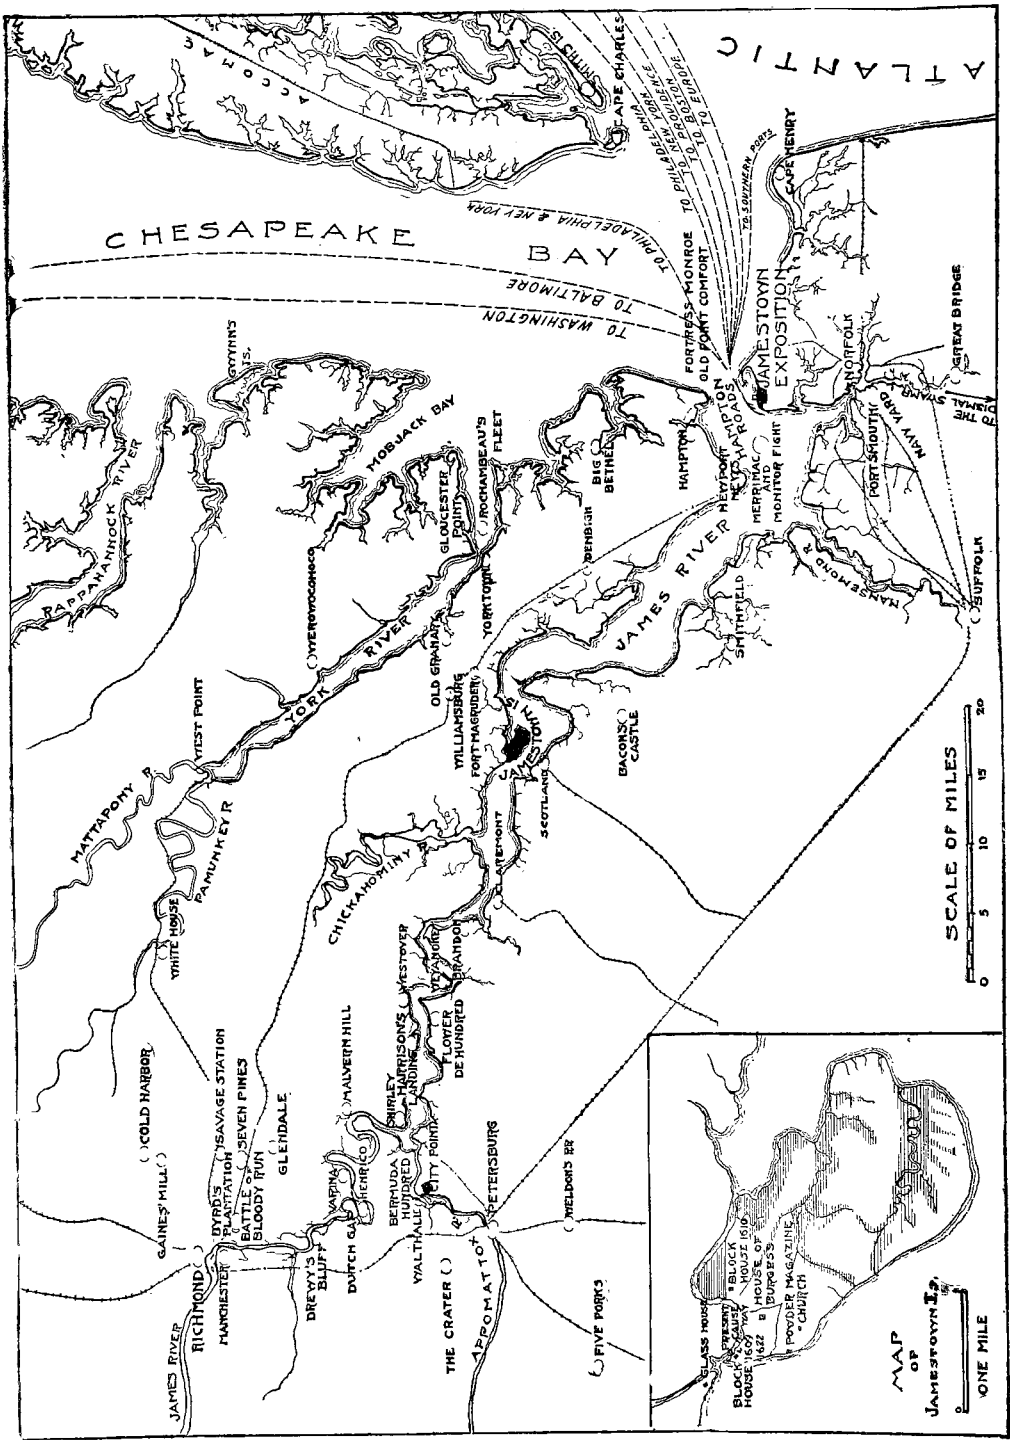

Hotel accommodations are sufficient for all who may attend, and the rates are in no wise extortionate. The many hotels and boarding houses in the city of Norfolk and the nearby cities and towns can take care of tens of thousands, and the hotel within the Exposition grounds and those about the gates can accommodate thousands more.

The Exposition has a frontage of three miles on the waters of Hampton Roads and commands a magnificent view of the harbor where the warships of all nations will gather. The Exposition buildings proper, the Government structures, including the grand piers and the mammoth aquarium, the State buildings along the Boulevard by the seashore, represent the expenditure of millions of dollars. The exhibits in the educational, historical and industrial departments are very complete, the historical collection of antiquities and relics being especially comprehensive and interesting.

The attractions of the "War Path," the "Canoe Trail," the "Lovers' Lane," the military drills and parades, the splendid assemblage of bands of music from every country, the beautiful landscape, all lend to the enchantment of this "Colonial City by the Sea."

From Norfolk, electric lines lead to Virginia Beach and Cape Henry, about twenty miles away on the Atlantic coast; boat lines and railroads lead to Williamsburg, the old Colonial Capital, to Yorktown, the scene of the surrender of Cornwallis, to Jamestown, the first English settlement in America, to Petersburg, Richmond and the battlefields. Appomattox, the Natural Bridge and the Luray Caverns are near enough to be taken as a part of the Exposition trip.

In Norfolk, among the sights of historic interest is the old St. Paul's church, erected in 1739, twice fired on by the British and still retaining, imbedded in its walls, a shell fired by Lord Dunmore's fleet, Jan. 1, 1776. There are also many interesting fortifications and historic buildings. Portsmouth has one of the largest of the United States navy yards; Newport News has the largest ship-building plant and the largest dry dock in America, where many of the great war vessels of the United States navy have been constructed; Hampton has the celebrated Institute for Indians and Negroes and a National Soldiers' Home; Fortress Monroe is just across the Roads from the Exposition and is rich in historical associations.

The Norfolk Landmark

is the Leading Newspaper in Eastern Virginia and Carolina

CIRCULATION.

It allows examination of circulation by the Association of American Advertisers, and holds their certificate of BONA FIDE subscribers. Gives sworn statements to any interested advertiser. The Landmark is one of one hundred thirty-eight papers out of over two thousand in the United States to be voluntarily awarded the "GOLD MARKS" by the American Newspaper Directory. The Gold Marks mean substantiability and influence : : : : :

THE LANDMARK

Goes to the homes of the people. That's the kind of circulation that pays the Advertiser. The Landmark refuses steadfastly to pad its circulation. Its well known in the vicinity of Norfolk that the Landmark is the only home paper in Norfolk. Its kept and read for its literary work. LEADS THEM ALL as an advertising medium it has no equal in the field, and is read daily in thousands of homes in

Eastern Virginia and Eastern North Carolina

High Standard in all Departments

Its literary standard is high in all of the various departments. It is the most influential journal in the Eastern part of Virginia. It excludes from its columns a great deal of the best-paying advertising in the country because of the questionable character of the business offered. Its large local business proves how valuable and necessary for their welfare and prosperity the merchants and people generally of Norfolk and vicinity regard its advertising columns. : : : : : : : : : : :
